

Michelle Tindall

Director Customer Solutions

Michelle is an experienced business professional, having held senior operational roles in human resources, relationship development, finance, and information technology across the healthcare and education sectors. Her work within the human services sector includes governance and compliance, employee engagement, building leadership development products and designing learning options for leaders across Australia.

Michelle was fortunate to be involved in the roll out of NDIS, being in the position to help design governance and auditing processes and tools for many human services organisations, enabling provider registration.

She was able to introduce new performance management frameworks, internal engagement and training programs and learning tools, and an external online learning platform, instilling confidence in our clients that their people have access to tools and development opportunities.

Michelle is passionate about the human services sector and supporting customers to find the best recruitment and leadership development solutions to support thriving organisations.
